CROSSCUTTING AND SINKING AT MONTEZUMA

Work on the immense estate of the Montezuma Silver Mines Corporation at Montezuma is making rapid progress since installation of the compressors and power drills. Agreements have been suspended as the management is intent on developing the property with a view to determining what class of mill and process of treatment would be required for installation at the mine to eliminate the long truck and rail haul. In the Arizona shaft two shifts are now at work both in sinking the shaft below the 525 level and in extending the drifts in the ore both ways from the 300 station. On the Caracas shaft which is down 200 feet a crew is engaged rebarbering and it is expected that at the end of thirty days active work in sinking will be resumed. The Caracas shaft promises to prove as rich as the Arizona as the entire bottom of the hole is in $50 rock. The company has not experienced any difficulty in getting good miners as they pay good wages and board the men at company expense. H. B. Needham, one of the principal stockholders, is expected to visit the property before very long. Mr. Needham is one of the largest owners of real estate in Perth Amboy, N. J., and is said to employ 90 per cent of the men engaged in that industrial cen-

BREAST ASSAYS $38 NEW TYPE ORE MAY BE VERY SIGNIFICANT

The weekly report of the Tonopah Divide Mining Company contains some very interesting facts about the physical condition of the property as follows:

"The total development for the week has amounted to 140 feet which was done on the 365, 470 and 580 levels and consisted of drifting and crosscutting.

"The main east drift on the 365 foot level has advanced 30 and has not shown any radical change in the character of the vein. A crosscut toward the north wall of the vein shows a slight increase in the sulphide content over that in the crosscuts further back.

"The east drift on the 470 foot level has advanced to a total length of 550 feet without showing any particular change as yet nor have the crosscuts near the face developed anything of importance.

"The east drift on the 580 foot level has advanced to a total length of 668 feet the last ten feet of which has exposed 2 feet of ore to the north of the main gongwall of the vein but has not yet shown the full width of the ore. This ore is of an entirely different character from that heretofore developed in the mine as

"The new hoist is installed and has been in service beginning with the night shift of the 17th and is entirely satisfactory. It is equipped with a 112 horse power motor and has a hoisting speed of a little under 600 feet per minute.
